

Kid's Country Barn Religious

Kid's Country Barn celebrates all religious holidays that may pertain to our student population and the cultures around the world. We talk about religious, spiritual and non-religious beliefs in the context of education for both family and cultural customs. Our multi-cultural studies are all inclusive of the various beliefs from around the world. We welcome our families to share their own customs by bringing in items, sharing ideas with us, and talking to our classes so that we can better get to know and empower each family at our facility. We encourage and acknowledge diversity. The children enrolled at Kid's Country Barn are invited to participate by singing holiday and seasonal songs for their parents at this our holiday winter concert. We are inclusive of all families and do not discriminate according to religious beliefs, race, or gender at Kid's Country Barn.
